Excerpt: . . . 11 proposed this project in specific response to mandates for renew-able energy. In conclusion, Cape Wind and the other wind projects that will follow present great potential for meeting the multiple objectives of national energy and environmental policy, including decreased reli-ance on imported fuel, reducing and offsetting air emissions, and lowering the cost of electricity to the ratepaying public, all with minimal environmental impact. Based on our experience, we have two suggestions for improving the process. First, we believe that national policy objectives would be better served if environmental review of proposed energy facili-ties were conducted in a more timely manner, perhaps pursuant to statutory timeframes that would prevent delay tactics from crippling an otherwise worthy project. I point out in that case, for example, many of the New England States have adopted energy fa-cilities siting acts which...
