Mr. Bates, President of the American Society of Civil Engineers, wishes to express his regret, regret that I know you all appreciate, that sickness at home obliges him to be absent. I can only feel confusion at having to fill his chair, and yet not fill his place. It is a, pleasure to us all as engineers of different schools to meet in a common cause, for it brings home the proof of our mutual dependence. Every advance in technical science and practice is made through the co-operation of two or more of the branches of the engineering fraternities. The miner and metallurgist are always more or less helpless without the aid of the mechanical engineer, and now both must call in the electrical engineer to their assistance if engaged in work of any magnitude. In one endeavor, however, we are all united, that is, in trying to utilize to the...
